Finding a pharmacy in an unfamiliar town

Excuse me. Do you know where I can find a pharmacy?
Oh, there isn't one on this street. You'll need to go into the town centre.
And whereabouts is it?
There's one just next to the post office. Not inside—just next to it. It closes early though.
I might be too late then. Is there anywhere else?
Your best bet is the big Tesco. They've got a pharmacy section inside.
I don't really want to go all the way to Tesco. Is there anything closer?
Not with a pharmacy, no. But if you just keep walking straight, turn right at the roundabout and go over the bridge, you'll see it.
How long will it take me?
Depends on how fast you walk. Maybe ten or twelve minutes?
